4. [REDACTED] was also informed that since OMS support was involved in all of the above sub-programs, we are considering including OMS support history in these several sub-programs, making a separate Support Program history unnecessary.

5. In response to his query re the need for anything else to be covered in the OMS history (paragraph 2d above), [REDACTED] was informed that we had mentioned this to our staff and the response was generally in the negative. [REDACTED] was asked however to clarify the intent of this question, and by way of an example he suggested that perhaps another OMS monograph might be an "overview" of the OMS for the period 1957-1965. We thanked him for his suggestion and told him we would give this appropriate consideration.
